ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Virginia Occupational Information System (VOIS) is operated under the auspices of the Virginia Occupational Information Coordinating Committee (VOICC). VOIS is supported by grants from the Governor's Employment and Training Division, the Division of Vocational and Adult Education, and the National Occupational Information Coordinating Committee.

Jeffrey A. Windom, Executive Director of VOICC, provided overall guidance on this project. Members of the VOIS Advisory Committee were instrumental in developing the design and content of this publication. Members of the Advisory Committee are: Kenneth Moore of the Virginia Employment Commission, Ed Morse of the Virginia Community College System, George Orr of the Virginia State Advisory Council on Vocational Education, Charles Tongret of the Peninsula Office of Manpower Programs, and Marilynn Vaughan of the Governor's Employment and Training Division.

We are especially grateful to Nancy Brown and Martha Sites of the University of Virginia's Academic Computing Center for providing the programming for this publication. Barry Jackson of the Tayloe Murphy Institute designed the cover; Papercraft Printing and Design Company provided graphics and layout assistance; and Edwards Brothers, Carolina, Incorporated printed this publication.

We wish to thank Charles O. Meiburg, Director of the Tayloe Murphy Institute, for his overall support for this project.

OCCUPATIONS IN VIRGINIA

Introduction

The material in this publication is taken from the 1980 Census of Population and Housing: Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) Special File. The Virginia Occupational Information System (VOIS) Project, operated at the Tayloe Murphy Institute, is publishing this information as part of its on-going program of providing detailed occupational data for Virginia.

The data presented in this publicaton show the occupational attachment of Virginians to the labor force as reported in the 1980 Census. Data are shown for 503 specific occupations as well as for 96 major and minor groupings. The publication contains two tables. Table 1 provides occupational data for Virginia as a whole and for each of its ten Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSAs). Table 2 provides occupational data for each of the 136 counties and cities in Virginia.

Appendixes A, B, and C delineate the counties and cities in each of Virginia's planning districts, SMSAs, and Service Delivery Areas, respectively. Service Delivery Areas (SDAs) are geographical units newly designated by the Governor of Virginia for the purpose of administering the Job Training Partnership Act of 1982. The Index and Reference Guide provides an alphabetical listing of all Census occupational and group titles, a guide to their location in the data tables, and a cross-reference to related titles in the VOIS publication, Virginia Occupational Demand, Supply, and Wage Information.

Data Included in this Publication

Population Included: This publication provides data for all persons in the civilian labor force. The civilian labor force includes both employed and unemployed civilians (members of the armed forces are excluded). The Bureau of the Census defines those terms as follows:

> Employed. Civilians 16 years old and over who were either:
>
> (a) "at work"--those who did any work at all as paid employees, or in their own business or profession, or on their own farm, or who worked 15 hours or more as unpaid workers on a family farm or in a family business; or (b) "with a job but not at work"--those who did not work during the reference week but had jobs or businesses from which they were temporarily absent due to illness, bad weather, industrial dispute, vacation, or other personal reasons.
>
> Excluded from the employed persons are those persons whose only activity consisted of work around the house or volunteer work for religious, charitable, and similar organizations.
>
> Unemployed. Civilians 16 years old and over who were neither "at work" nor "with a job, but not at work" and who were:
>
> (a) looking for work during the last four weeks; and (b) available to accept a job.

> Examples of jobseeking activities are: (1) registering at a public or private employment office; (2) meeting with prospective employers; (3) checking with friends or relatives; (4) placing or answering advertisements; (5) writing letters of application; or (6) being on a union or professional register.
> Also included as unemployed are persons who did not work at all during the reference week and were waiting to be called back to a job from which they had been laid off.

This publication includes a count of those unemployed with no civilian work experience since 1975. According to the Bureau of the Census, persons are classified this way if "they reported themselves as unemployed in 1980 and one of the following: (1) their last job since 1975 was in the armed forces; or (2) they last worked in 1974 or earlier; or (3) they reported that they had never worked." This population is included in the line titled "Total, All Occupations."

Occupation: The Bureau of the Census defines "occupation" as:

> The kind of work the person was doing at a job or business during the reference week or, if not at work, at the most recent job or business if employed since 1975. Persons working at more than one job were instructed to describe the one at which the person worked the most hours during the reference week.

The write-in responses to the occupation/industry questions were used to assign the respondent to one of 503 specific occupational categories. Two of these categories were broken down to the industry level, making a total of 514 categories on the EEO File. These additional industry breakdowns were not used in this publication.

Geographic Coverage: This publication includes data for three types of geographic areas: the State, Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSAs), and counties/cities. Data for SMSAs that cross state boundaries include data for all localities in the SMSAs, not just those localities within Virginia boundaries. Consequently, the tables for the Johnson City, Norfolk, and Washington, D.C. SMSAs include data from localities in neighboring states. The official names of the SMSAs in Virginia can be found in Appendix B. Abbreviated names, consisting of the first city in the official name, are used in Table 1.

Two Virginia localities that were officially part of SMSAs at the time of the 1980 Census no longer meet the criteria for inclusion in an SMSA. As of June 30, 1983, Craig County will no longer be part of the Roanoke SMSA, and Appomattox County will no longer be part of the Lynchburg SMSA. However, the two counties are included in their respective SMSA totals in this publication. As of June 30, 1983, Stafford County will become part of the Washington, D.C. SMSA. It is not included in the SMSA totals in this publication. It should also be noted that as of this date the term "Standard Metropolitan Statistical Area" (SMSA) will be officially replaced by the term "Metropolitan Statistical Area" (MSA).

Classification System

The classification system for the 1980 Census is based on the 1980 Standard Occupational Classification as established by the U.S. Office of Federal Statistical Policy and Standards. The 503 occupational categories are organized into six summary and 13 major groups. These are as follows:

- Managerial and professional specialty occupations:
  - Executive, administrative, and managerial occupations
  - Professional specialty occupations

- Technical, sales, and administrative support occupations:
  - Technicians and related support occupations
  - Sales occupations
  - Administrative support occupations, including clerical

- Service occupations:
  - Private household occupations
  - Protective service occupations
  - Service occupations, except protective and household

- Farming, forestry, and fishing occupations

- Precision production, craft, and repair occupations

- Operators, fabricators, and laborers:
  - Machine operators, assemblers, and inspectors
  - Transportation and material moving occupations
  - Handlers, equipment cleaners, helpers and laborers

Seventy-eight minor groups are also included in this publication. Each occupational category is assigned a three-digit numerical code. While not shown in the body of this publication, the Census codes are listed in the Index and Reference Guide in the back.

Organization of this Publication

A system of indentation and capitalization is used to assist the reader in organizing the 503 occupations into clusters. All 503 specific occupations are printed in lower case letters. All aggregations--summary groups, major groups, and minor groups--are printed in upper case. The six summary groups (as well as a row for "Total, All Occupations") are also underlined and set off by double spaces. The major groups are set off by single spaces. All subsets of a minor group are indented below that minor group. There may be several indentations below a given minor group, but all occupations and aggregations indented under it will sum to the minor group. For example:

	Locality X
PRECISION PRODUCTION, CRAFT, AND REPAIR OCCUPATIONS	100
MECHANICS AND REPAIRERS	50
Supervisors, mechanics and repairers	10
VEHICLE AND MOBILE EQUIPMENT MECHANICS AND REPAIRERS	35
Automobile mechanics, except apprentices	15
Bus, truck, and stationary engine mechanics	10
Aircraft engine mechanics	10
Industrial machinery repairers	5

In this example, 100 persons in Locality X are in the summary group "PRECISION PRODUCTION, CRAFT, AND REPAIR OCCUPATIONS." Of these, 50 are in the minor group "MECHANICS AND REPAIRERS." "MECHANICS AND REPAIRERS" are further broken down into a minor group, "VEHICLE AND MOBILE EQUIPMENT MECHANICS AND REPAIRERS," and two individual occupations, "Supervisors, mechanics and repairers," and "Industrial machinery repairers." The minor group is broken down into three specific occupations. Note that "Industrial machinery repairers" are not part of "VEHICLE AND MOBILE EQUIPMENT MECHANICS AND REPAIRERS," for they are not indented under that title.

Each full listing of occupations and aggregations comprises an 11-page continuous table or "table set." Each table set contains data for four geographic areas. Altogether, there are 37 table sets in this publication.

Potential Uses of the Data

The data in this publication are of value to a wide variety of users. Estimates of the number of skilled workers in a particular occupation are used in several affirmative action and other EEO-related activities. The data on the available work force are useful to local economic development commissions in attracting new industry. Likewise, firms planning new plant locations may use the data in analyzing local skilled labor pools and training needs. Persons in the employment and training community may use the data to evaluate the occupational distribution of their respective areas, thereby assisting in developing new vocational program offerings as well as job upgrading and retraining programs.

Methodology

The occupational tabulations are based on several questions asked in the 1980 Census. The primary questions, coming under the heading "Occupation" on the Census form, asked "What kind of work was this person doing?" and "What were this person's most important activities or duties?" Trained Census employees coded the responses to these questions into one of 503 occupational titles in the Census classification system. If the answers to the above two questions did not sufficiently describe a Census occupational category, then the coder reviewed answers to other questions concerning the industry and the type of organization (e.g., private company, state government) in which the individual worked. Based on these responses, an occupational code was assigned.

The data in the EEO File, from which this publication is taken, are estimates based on sample data, not actual counts. The basic sampling unit for the 1980 Census was all occupants in a given household. Two sampling rates were used. For small areas, i.e., counties and places with less than 2,500 persons, one out of every two households was sampled. In all other places, one out of every six households was sampled. Altogether, approximately one out of every five households received Census forms containing the occupational questions.

Two types of errors can result from survey samples such as this--sampling errors and non-sampling errors. "Sampling error" refers to the deviation of a sample estimate from the average of all possible samples. Sampling error is inherent to all samples and is expressed in terms of "standard error" and "degrees of confidence". These measures may be mathematically determined from tables supplied by the Bureau of the Census. Non-sampling errors in this survey were primarily of four kinds: undercoverage, respondent errors, processing errors, and non-response. The Bureau of the Census attempted to limit these types of errors as much as possible. However, since all responses to Census questions are self-reported, respondent error, whether intentional or unintentional, could be a significant factor. Although some checks, such as comparing reported occupation with reported income, were performed on responses which seemed doubtful, the Census coders generally relied on the accuracy of the respondents.

Comparability with 1970 Census Data

As stated above, the occupational organization of the 1980 EEO File is based on the 1980 Standard Occupational Classification. This classificaton system was first developed in 1977 to provide a government-wide standard for the classification of occupational data. The 1980 data are only partially comparable to the 1970 Census data. For example, the 1980 major group "Professional Specialty Occupations" includes three groups of occupations from the 1970 major group "Professional, Technical, and Kindred Workers." It also includes two occupations from another 1970 major group. Likewise, some occupational titles from the 1970 classification system have been eliminated and a large number of new ones have been added. The Bureau of the Census is developing several technical papers and computer tapes in an effort to provide some measure of comparability between the two systems.

Comparability with Virginia Occupational Demand, Supply, and Wage Information

Virginia Occupational Demand, Supply, and Wage Information is the primary annual product of the Virginia Occupational Information System (VOIS). As of this date, the most recent volume (the 1982 edition) contains a wide variety of metropolitan area, State, and national data on 180 occupational titles. For each title there are up to four pages of occupational information. There is a reference to appropriate Census occupational titles and codes at the beginning of each of the 180 sets or "briefs" of occupational data. Since the organization of occupational titles in the annual publication is based on the Standard Occupational Classification (SOC) system, which also serves as the basis for the Census system, there is generally a one-to-one correspondence between occupational titles in the two publications. To find information in Virginia Occupational Demand, Supply, and Wage Information as it relates to information in this publication, the reader can use the cross-references in the "Index and Reference Guide" in the back of this publication.

Other EEO File Data

In addition to the information presented in this publication, the EEO File contains occupational data broken down by sex and by eleven standard Census race/Hispanic groups. These groups are:

Total Hispanic
White, not Hispanic
Black, not Hispanic
American Indian, Eskimo, or Aleut, not Hispanic
Asian and Pacific Islander, not Hispanic
Race, not elsewhere classified (n.e.c.), not Hispanic
Total White
Total Black
Total American Indian, Eskimo, or Aleut
Total Asian and Pacific Islander
Total, race n.e.c.

The file also includes data on educational attainment by age, race, and sex for the State, SMSAs, and counties/cities. These data are not cross-tabulated with the occupational data.

Related Census Materials

Alphabetical Index of Industries and Occupations (Census Publication PHC80-R3, November 1982). This index presents the complete Census classificaton system and provides alphabetical lists of 20,000 industry and 29,000 occupational titles and the Census codes under which they are classified.

Classified Index of Industries and Occupations (Census Publication PHC80-R4, November 1982). This index presents for each category in the industrial and occupational classification systems, a complete list of the individual titles in the Alphabetical Index that make up each of the 231 industry and 503 occupational categories in the Census classification system.

Census of Population, 1980: Equal Employment Opportunity Special File Technical Documentation. (1982) This document contains complete technical and background information on the EEO File. It was the source of much of the material in this introduction.

Advance Estimates of Social, Economic and Housing Characteristics (Census Publication PHC80-S2-48, February 1983). This publication contains data from Summary Tape File 3. Occupational data include the total number of employed persons in each summary group and in each major occupational group for each geographic area. The set of data in Advance Estimates is not comparable to the set of data from the EEO File because the EEO File covers the entire civilian labor force, i.e., both employed and unemployed persons.

General Social and Economic Characteristics (Census Publicaton PC80-1-C-48). When released, this publication will contain data from Summary Tape File 4. Occupational data will include the number of employed persons in each of 70 occupational categories, broken down by sex and race/Hispanic groups. Data will be published for the state, counties, cities, and places of 50,000 or more. This Summary Tape File will also include data at the minor civil division and tract levels. As with Advance Estimates, this set of data will not be comparable to the EEO File because it will cover only employed persons.

Characteristics of the Population: Detailed Characteristics (Census Publication PC80-1-D-48). When released, this publication will contain data from Summary Tape File 5. It will include data such as cross-tabulations of occupation by industry, as well as other tabulations of value to the employment and training community. Data will be presented for the state, SMSAs, and places of 50,000 or more.

Detailed Occupation and Years of School Completed by Age, for the Civilian Labor Force by Sex, Race and Spanish/Hispanic Origin: 1980 (Census Publication PC80-S1-8). When released, this publication will provide all tables available on the EEO File, including sex and race/Hispanic breakdown, for 514 occupations at the national level only.

Census of Population, 1980: Equal Employment Opportunity Special File Microfiche. When released, this will be a microfiche version of the entire EEO File, with data for Virginia, its SMSAs, counties, and cities.

INDEX AND REFERENCE GUIDE

Group titles in the column "Alphabetical Listing of Census Titles" are in upper case. The column "Census Code" shows the official classification codes assigned by the U.S. Bureau of the Census to specific occupational titles. The column "Related Title in Occupational Briefs" refers to the 180 occupational briefs found in the publication Virginia Occupational Demand, Supply, and Wage Information (Charlottesville: Tayloe Murphy Institute, September 1982). The notation  reflects the fact that group titles do not have individual Census codes and, in this guide, the group titles are not cross-referenced to occupational briefs. A blank line in the column "Related Title in Occupational Briefs" signifies that there is no occupational brief related to the specific Census title.

"n.e.c." = not elsewhere classified

ERRATUM

In each 11-page table set the value of the last category, "Unemployed, no civilian work experience since 1975," was inadvertently added into the preceding major group "HANDLERS, EQUIPMENT CLEANERS, HELPERS, AND LABORERS" and summary group "OPERATORS, FABRICATORS, AND LABORERS." The corrected values for these two groups were calculated by subtracting the "Unemployed" figure from them.
